The Champion Celebrates 25 YEARS of Serving the Local Community

COUNCIL LAUNCHES DEVELOPMENT ARM

Plan is for authority's new company to build up to 340 homes over next five years

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancashire Borough Council has formed its very own development company with plans to build up to 340 homes over the next five years.

The formation of the company, to be known as Tawd Valley Developments Limited, was formally agreed at the meeting of the council on February 27 and planning is already underway for the building of 77 'good quality' homes in Skelmersdale in the next 12 months, including 48 to be retained by the council for social housing.

The council says the new homes will be delivered for local people building on recent successful major housing projects such as the current Walmsley Drive development in Ormskirk.

Profits from house sales will be returned to the council as the only shareholder of the company and the authority says it will help to support its "ambitious" priorities for the borough.

The company will also build much-needed 'affordable' homes for rental to be retained by the council.

Responding to media questions at a conference held at council offices, leaders and officials said that the council had successfully bid for a £780,000 grant from Government to set the company up. Four non-salaried directors are currently being recruited to run it and a five-year business plan projects the company to make £4m surplus.

Council leader, Councillor Ian Moran, says company will help generate income to support front-line services and exciting projects.

Leader of the council and cabinet member for economic regeneration, Councillor Ian Moran, said: "One of the council's top priorities is to deliver tangible improvements for the local economy by developing commercial and residential property.

"This would help support new and growing businesses, retain and grow jobs and increase the number of residents in the area.

"Tawd Valley Developments Limited will help the council achieve that and generate income for West Lancashire, including through council tax and business rates to support frontline services and more exciting projects."

Objectives

And Councillor Jenny Forshaw, cabinet member for housing and landlord services, added: "A key role of Tawd Valley Developments Limited will be to facilitate the building of much-needed, new affordable housing in West Lancashire. This will benefit people across the borough."

The council says that Tawd Valley Developments Limited's main objectives will be to acquire and develop sites for residential and commercial development.

In addition, the company will seek to secure additional private and Government investment into the borough; create relationships with landowners, developers and investors which deliver financial and regeneration benefits; and maximise appropriate development and accelerate growth by providing property and commercial expertise.

Concourse centre to host Live Well Skelmersdale day

THE Concourse shopping centre will host a special community event entitled Live Well Skelmersdale 2019 tomorrow (Thursday, March 7) between 10am and 2pm.

Organisers say the event will have 'something for everyone' regardless of age or gender and aims to bring together the very best of the voluntary, community and faith sectors to showcase all Skelmersdale has to offer, as well information on how people can improve their health and wellbeing.

Among the organisations attending on the day will be Active West Lancs; Age of Opportunity; British Heart Foundation; Citizens Advice; Community Restart; CVS; Dees Counselling; Divine Days; the Fire Service; Inspire; Lancashire Adult Learning; Lancashire Community Finance; Lancashire Mind; Lancashire Wellbeing Service; LCC Personal Budgeting Service; LCC Support into Employment and Wellbeing & Employment service; Liberty Centre; Macmillan Cancer Support; More Positive Together; My Place; Pulse, Recovery Works; Renaissance & Healthier Living Team; Sewing Rooms; and Virgin Care.

'Exciting opportunity'

Ground-floor stalls will offer information and advice, as well as freebies, giveaways and a raffle.

Lancashire Adult Learning will be demonstrating how to cook healthy meals in a microwave, while the Ecumenical Centre will be running their usual Junk Food café and food bank services.

A retail unit will be open on the first floor next to the main events and will be offering a sexual health clinic, as well as Dees Counselling services, which will be running 121 Cognitive Behavioural Therapy taster sessions.

Dream Makers will perform 'This is Me' from The Greatest Showman and there will be a Tai Chi demonstration as well.

A spokesperson for the organisers said; "This is an exciting opportunity to find out what your town has to offer you in terms of health and wellbeing support, as well as a chance to participate in events, and even win a prize."

Borough to mark Commonwealth Day

LOCAL schoolchildren will help the borough council to raise the Commonwealth Flag at a special ceremony on Monday, March 11 to mark Commonwealth Day 2019.

Celebrations will begin around 9.50am when the Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Noel Delaney, and other civic dignitaries will be joined by children from Ormskirk CE Primary School, outside the council offices in Derby Street, Ormskirk.

Messages from the Secretary-General of the Commonwealth of Nations will be read out and the mayor will also address those present. A specially-written Commonwealth Affirmation will be read before the flag is raised.

Councillor Delaney said: "I am really proud that West Lancashire will be joining people across the world in raising the Commonwealth Flag. This year is the 70th anniversary of the 1949 London Declaration which brought into being the Commonwealth we know today."

After the flag-raising ceremony light refreshments will be served in the Mayor's Room.

Club's £20k 'lifesaver' gift to Blood Bikers

Report by Henry James

MEMBERS of a West Lancs motorcycle club have given a five-figure boost to a regional charity with a lifesaving role.

The Scarisbrick & District Armada Motorcycle Club donated and presented a new, fully-liveried, BMW R1200 RT-P, worth £20,000, to the North West Blood Bikes Lancs & Lakes Charity on Sunday, March 3.

The presentation was held at the club's meeting venue, The Heatons Bridge Inn in Scarisbrick, where the bike was handed over to the charity's chairman, Paul Brooks and fleet manager, Simon Hanson.

Made up entirely of volunteers, the North West Blood Bikes provide out-of-hours emergency support to the NHS free of charge carrying urgent and emergency medical items, including blood, X-rays, samples, drugs, and documentation, between hospitals and other healthcare facilities.

Since starting seven years ago, the charity, which is completely funded by voluntary contribution, has seen its workload increase massively and they now handle more than 1,250 calls each month.

The £20k BMW is presented to the Blood Bikers.

The Scarisbrick & District Armada Motorcycle Club is made up of motorcycle enthusiasts of all ages. Most of the current members own a breadth of motorcycles, from collectable classics to today's modern machines.

Among other things, the club runs the 'PLOP Enduro' C90 Race series. This is an eight-hour endurance event, organised as a fun day on bikes which is not going to break the bank and aimed at raising money for good causes while allowing entrants access to top circuits such as Mallory Park, Anglesey Circuit and Cadwell Park, riding Honda C90 machines which date back to production in 1966.

To date the club has made significant donations to a number of organisations, including the North West, North Wales and Northern Ireland air ambulances, and Aintree Hospital's trauma unit.

Skem band have song published by US music giants!

Report by Henry James

A YOUNG band from Skelmersdale have had a song published by New York giants, Sony ATV, one of the world's largest music publishing companies, which has Ed Sheeran, and Adele on its books!

The track by Mosley Bar, Two Apart ,has been added to Sony's catalogue of songs for use in film, TV and for other artists to possibly record.

Mosley Bar was formed in September 2015 when two friends from Skelmersdale teamed up with two cousins, taking their name from a miss-pronunciation of a muesli bar!

The band is made up of 23-year-old Ryan Ward on guitar/lead vocals and 22-year-old Matthew Wright, 22, on drums, both from Skelmersdale and Tim Williams, 22, from Golborne on bass/vocals and 20-year-old Adam Eccleston from Lowton on guitar

They say they have been influenced by bands such as the Arctic Monkeys and The Libertines.

The band recorded in the Motor Museum Recording Studios in Liverpool and entered the music scene when their debut single, Record Sleeve, received double figure plays on BBC Introducing and a couple of spins on BBC Radio 6.

Back in the studio they recorded their second EP, Royalties from which they released their third single Two Apart.

Two Apart received plenty of worldwide airplay from which Heardwell, a small record label in Los Angeles, picked up the track and recommended it to Sony ATV in New York, who loved it.

It will now be put out for synchronisation for commercials, film, TV shows, video games or any other project that need that perfect song. It could also be recorded by other artists.

Matthew said: "It's amazing that the largest music publishing company in the world has chosen one of our songs from an unknown band to publish.

"It would be fantastic now if it was used in a film or TV show to give us some great exposure.

"In the meantime, we will continue to write and perform a style of music that we love to play and listen to ourselves.

"Our fourth single, Strange Place is released on March 11 and has already been playlisted in the UK, USA, Canada, Australia and South Africa!"

Two Apart and their new single, plus al their other songs are available to download and stream from all the usual sources and people can check out all the gigs etc by following their social media page, https://www.facebook.com/mosleybar.

This photo of the flooded Tanhouse Road subway was taken this week according to our correspondent.

Call for action to tackle flooding at town subway

Report by Henry James

Resident says it's been a problem for 40 years!

RESIDENTS are calling for work to be done to tackle flooding at a subway in the town which they say has been a problem for 40 years!

One resident, who asked not be named, told the Champion that flooding at the Tanhouse Road subway frequently left it unpassable forcing pedestrians - including parents walking children to Holland Moor School - to walk in the road because there is no pavement.

Our informant said he had been told by an Egerton resident who lives by the underpass that it had been flooding for 40 years.

And although it was recently reported that the problem had been "sorted" he sent us the accompanying photograph which he says was taken this week, showing the subway flooded again.

He added; "For 45 years Skelmersdale residents have loyally returned Labour councillors to the district and now the borough council.

"Between 1997 and 2002 Labour governed the country and controlled the county, the borough and Skelmersdale. If they had any interest in fixing the subway why couldn't they do it when they held all the cards?

"20 years on, what has changed, apart from the faces?

"Skelmersdale is the biggest town, provides the most and should be the beacon of West Lancashire, not just live under the shadow of one."

Highways manager for Lancashire County Council, Ridwan Musa, responded: "We did some work to improve the drainage system in the Egerton subway in 2013 and this has helped to reduce the flooding.

"However, from time to time, the gullies do block and we have attended to clean them out.

"We will visit the subway this week to clean out the gullies and remove any blockages."

Council tax bills in West Lancs to rise by 4.81%

Report by Kenny Parker

COUNCIL tax bills in West Lancashire are set to rise by nearly 5% this year.

The increase in the borough council's share of the overall figure is 2.99%, while charges for Lancashire County Council increase by 3.99%.

Combined with a 2.99 % increase for the Lancashire Combined Fire Authority and a 13.52% increase in the police precept, the overall charge will increase by 4.81%.

The council tax for some areas will also include a parish council precept.

The new annual charges for the various property bands are as follows:
Band A - £1,213.94; Band B - £1,416.26; Band C - £1,618.59; Band D - £1,820.91; Band E - £2,225.56; Band F - £2,630.20; Band G - £3,034.85; Band H £3,641.82.

Most of the properties in West Lancashire are designated Band A or B.

The borough council says the new budget will ensure the continuation of front-line services at current levels while also securing funding for a number of important schemes, including a review into food security, and repair and maintenance of swimming pools.

Council bosses say the authority continues to face a challenging financial position due to reductions in Government grant funding. As a result the council has had to make savings and generate additional income amounting to more than £10 million. And it still needs to save or raise additional income of £1.9 million by 2021/22 to meet the budget gap.

Councillor Adam Yates.

Councillor Adam Yates, the council's portfolio holder for resources and transformation, said it had been very difficult to plan for the medium term due to uncertainly over the future.

In preparing the budget for 2019/20, he said the council had worked hard to avoid service reductions and has also been able to find funding for a number of schemes including extra support for implementing the Tawd Valley Park project; commissioning a study into food insecurity in the borough; and structural repair work at Park Pool and Nye Bevan Sports Centre, to ensure their continued maintenance while the council implements plans for new leisure and wellbeing hubs.

Cllr. Yates said: "For the best part of a decade, this council has had its funding reduced year-on-year by central government. We continue to face further significant financial challenges ahead, particularly with the move to make all local authorities self-funding by 2020/21 and the lack of information currently being provided by Government to allow us to plan for the medium term.

"However, we are determined to maintain frontline services, while still investing in our council and our borough to make real improvements for local people.

"Through initiatives such as our new development company, we will be looking to generate additional income and make a positive social impact by providing more affordable housing across West Lancashire.

"We are also undertaking a full strategic review of all council services to improve accessibility for residents and to deliver further efficiencies where possible."

Caterers serve up a helping hand for hospice

FUNDRAISING efforts by staff at Skelmersdale-based Mellors Catering Services have contributed £2,675 to their chosen charity, Zoë's Place Baby Hospice.

With hospices in Liverpool, Middlesbrough and Coventry, Zoë's Place provide palliative, respite and end-of-life care to babies and infants suffering from life-limiting and life-threatening conditions.

This vital care, much needed by the families affected, costs £1.6m per year to run and Mellors, which is based in Prescott Road, East Pimbo are proud to be able to provide a continued contribution to these costs.

The £2,675 contribution by Mellors Contract Catering has been raised through a number of activities including their Christmas Balls and events such as 'It's a Knockout', with further activities being planned in the coming months to raise even more money.

Tony Trainor, chief operating officer at Mellors, commented: "Five years ago, we decided to consolidate our charity fundraising efforts into one worthy cause. Zoë's Place Baby Hospice was a natural fit as we share some common interests. We feed 90,000 children while Zoë's Place ensure that less fortunate children and their families receive the care and respite they need whilst dealing with life-changing or life-limiting conditions, so it made sense for us to support this particular children's charity, where funds raised can make a real difference."

Mellors presented Zoë's Place with the contribution at the Lancashire Manor Hotel, the home of their Big Red Bus, a traditional double-decker London bus that they have converted into a mobile catering facility.

Consultation launched on plan to axe school bus services subsidies

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE County Council has launched a public consultation about plans to remove subsidies to school bus services in the county.

The controversial move is part of a number of measures aimed at saving the authority £46m by 2022/23.

Changes to school transport is one of a number of proposals being put out to public consultation before councillors make a final decision.

Councils are legally required to provide free home to school transport for some students, and normally this is done by operating a school bus. Where there are seats available, other students can also use the bus by buying a season ticket or paying a fare.

The county council is proposing to remove the funding for some school bus services where no students who are entitled to free home to school transport have used them for the last two years, and the cost of providing the bus is not covered by season tickets or fares bought by other students.

If cabinet agree the proposal it would affect services from September 2020, giving schools and parents a full academic year's notice before funding was removed.

County Councillor Geoff Driver "We genuinely want to hear people's views on these proposed changes."

In the interim the council says it would work with schools and bus operators to see if there was another way to provide the service. It would also carry out a review of which services are affected every year.

The services currently affected in West Lancashire, where no students who are entitled to free home to school transport have used them for the last two years are:

- The 605 Holmeswood-Rufford-Tarleton Academy (used as a connection service to Burscough Priory, Bishop Rawstorne CE Academy, St Bede's Catholic High School).
- The 743 Skelmersdale War Memorial-Lathom High School.
- The 913 Skelmersdale War Memorial-Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic High School.

Leader of Lancashire County Council, County Councillor Geoff Driver, said: "While it is essential that as a council we balance the books, we do have sufficient flexibility in the budget to amend it if we are persuaded to do so by the results of consultations.

'Committed'

"We genuinely want to hear people's views on these proposed changes and the cabinet will consider all the responses very carefully before making a decision later in the year.

"We remain committed to providing the best services we can to the people of Lancashire, and particularly to protecting services for the most vulnerable in our communities."

The consultation on school transport runs until Monday, April 8.

Anyone who would like to respond can find the consultation online by searching 'consultations' at www.lancashire.gov.uk.

Rosie Cooper brands £1.6 billion Stronger Towns Fund "a pittance"

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has called the recently-announced £1.6bn Government fund to 'boost growth and give communities a greater say in their future after Brexit' a "pittance" when compared to the cuts which have been made.

The Government has said the Stronger Towns Fund will be targeted at places that have not "shared in the proceeds of growth in the same way as more prosperous parts of the country."

It will be used to create "new jobs, help train local people and boost economic activity – with communities having a say on how the money is spent".

A total of £1 billion will be allocated using a needs-based formula with more than half (£583 million) earmarked for towns across the north.

Communities will be able to draw up job-boosting plans for their town, with the support and advice of their Local Enterprise Partnerships.

Another £600m will be available through a bidding process to communities in any part of the country.

West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper says the Government must do better.

Local communities will be encouraged to come together to draw up proposals to restore pride and create new jobs in their area.

However, Rosie Cooper commented: "In West Lancashire we need urgent infrastructure investment and community funding in both Ormskirk and Skelmersdale town centres, a railway station in Skelmersdale, reinstatement of the Burscough curves, new sports centres, investment in schools, roads, the NHS and social care, as well as ongoing funding for policing. The list is endless.

"On this basis, the Government announcement of just £1.6bn across the whole country is a pittance spread over four years when you consider the millions of pounds which West Lancashire residents have lost through cuts in Government grants each year. This might be a start but the Government needs to do better, much better."

Announcing the Stronger Towns Fund, Prime Minister Theresa May said: "For too long in our country prosperity has been unfairly spread. Our economy has worked well for some places but we want it to work for all communities.

"Communities across the country voted for Brexit as an expression of their desire to see change - that must be a change for the better, with more opportunity and greater control."

The prestigious league, which includes teams from Liverpool, Everton in the Community, Wirral and Walton, is played on the first Saturday in the month over six months.

Carl and Mim Eaton from the Men-Aces said: "Today the Men-Aces were on fire, and the football was poetry in motion as the ball glided over the astro.

Unbeaten run

The Men-Aces had two wins and two draws which takes the team to 11 games unbeaten, with goals coming from Ste Rimmer and Carl Washington. They have only lost 1-0 to Walton at the start of the season.

The Men-Aces had some clean sheets in the Liverpool FA Adult Disability League with Team GB Goalie Haydn pulling off some "magnificent" saves, which now puts the team three clear points at the top.

Members of the table-topping Skelmersdale Men-Aces team.

Carl and Mim added: "Being on top of the league has given us hope, determination and a boost towards our next games."

County council accused of trying to 'gag' public on development issues

...but leader says changes to engagement with residents aim to 'streamline process' and 'probably improve democracy'

Report by Kenny Parker

THE Labour group on Lancashire County Council has accused the authority's Conservative-led administration of attempting to prevent the public from having a say on local developments.

Changes to the way the public engage with the council's development control committee, which considers planning decisions like fracking, industrial development and road building, were passed following a vote, but Labour claims they limit people's right to speak out.

The proposal put to councillors was to withdraw the opportunity for the public to make presentations to the committee (this was 30 minutes); a cap on the number of speakers able to address the committee in one sitting; cutting the time available to each individual to address the committee to three minutes; and introducing a '15 for' and '15 against' scheme to public presentations limiting each to three minutes to a maximum of 90 minutes.

County Councillor Fillis.

Skelmersdale East County Councillor John Fillis, Labour's deputy leader, said: "What is this ruling group running scared of? There is nothing wrong with scrutiny, and public engagement in local decisions is a good thing. This decision limits democracy. It is a further blatant attempt by this Conservative administration to quash public debate of their decisions."

However, council leader, County Councillor Geoff Driver claimed the changes were aimed at streamlining the process and would probably improve democracy.

He said: "Councillor Fillis is confusing the independent development control committee with the administration; or perhaps the development control committee wasn't independent under the previous Labour administration!

"The proposal is simply to streamline the procedure and probably enhances democracy because it enables the public to contribute in a more structured way. Even after these changes, Lancashire County Council allows considerably more participation than any other."

OWL challenges council's claims on scale of changes to Local Plan options

Report by Kenny Parker

... but Labour accuses independent group of 'a poor attempt at political point-scoring'

OUR West Lancashire has challenged the recent statement by the ruling Labour group on the borough council that it will 'significantly scale back' the controversial 30-year Local Plan Preferred Options proposals.

The independent group claims that there will only be slight amendments and urged to voters "kill off" the plan by opposing Labour members at the forthcoming local elections.

However, Labour refuted the claim and accused OWL of "a poor attempt at political point-scoring."

Following the public consultation on the proposed Local Plan, which would shape development in the borough for the next 30 years, the Labour group said it had listened to concerns and would "significantly" reduce the amount of Green Belt released and the number of houses planned.

The announcement was welcomed by West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper who said she had been contacted by hundreds or residents "expressing their deep concerns" about the proposals.

But OWL has said that the bulk of the plan remained essentially on the table and that the number of houses will only be slightly reduced.

The independent group's leader, Councillor Adrian Owens said that the Labour statement was "high on rhetoric, but said little."

Councillor Adrian Owens.

He added: "I and my OWL colleague, Councillor Ian Davis were briefed on the local plan by the council. The 30-year timeframe is staying; the large logistics parks by the M58 are staying; the need for huge tracts of Green Belt and most versatile agricultural land for development is staying.

Detailed

"The main change is that the council have been found out on their inaccurate calculations of housing numbers. The representation from Sefton Council makes clear that many of the statements our council made in the consultation document last autumn could not be substantiated. West Lancs Council is still going to propose new housing numbers well into five-figure territory and expect us to be pleased that the number is slightly less than the previous number they conjured up."

In response Labour stated: "We are in the process of reviewing the detailed responses to the Local Plan from residents. Once everyone's views have been considered, along with an evaluation of changes to the evidence base used to develop the original options within the plan, we will be able to set out our specific changes to the Local Plan proposals.

"We have said from the outset that the purpose of the consultation is to listen to residents' views in order to help shape the next Local Plan and we take that duty seriously.

"Councillor Adrian Owens completely ignored the views of residents when he was part of the Conservative leadership that created the last Local Plan, and was directly responsible for creating the market for student HMOs in Ormskirk.

"He has based his comments on a presentation given before the responses from residents have been fully evaluated. As usual, this is a poor attempt at political point-scoring from Our West Lancashire and not a valid attempt to support residents."

Skelmersdale company shortlisted for prestigious engineering award

A SKEMERSDALE-based company has been shortlisted in a prestigious engineering awards scheme.

Geotechnical engineering company MacGeo Ltd., of Graylaw Business Park, East Gillibrands, have been nominated in the equipment innovation category of the Ground Engineering Awards for their MacLab mobile logging and testing facility.

Established in 2015 by managing director, Paul McHugh, MacGeo faces stiff competition from well-known organisations such as Bachy Soletanche, Cambridge University and Transport for London, each with their own innovations.

A former pupil of Our Lady Queen of Peace Engineering College in Skelmersdale, in just over three years of trading 28-year-old Paul has seen the company grow from strength to strength, with teams working on projects throughout the country providing a range of geotechnical engineering services.

It has been responsible for managing a number of key signature projects, including the proposed Silvertown Tunnel beneath the River Thames, linking Greenwich Peninsula and Silvertown, and HS2 Align, the largest ground investigation project in the UK.

Paul McHugh said: "The shortlisting is great news for everyone at MacGeo. This level of recognition at a relatively early stage in our business is testament to our approach.

"The construction industry is developing at an outstanding rate with new technology driving innovation. As a result, our industry is becoming safer, more productive and more efficient.

Paul McHugh, managing director of MacGeo Ltd.

"Naturally, there is always room for improvement. Traditionally the construction industry has been very set in its ways and averse to change. However, government policy backed by changes in legislation and training are encouraging businesses like ours to challenge the status quo and do things differently.

"In this case, it is typical for core samples to be taken from the ground and transported elsewhere for logging and testing. The MacLab allows this to be done on-site, vastly reducing turnaround times. The beauty of this innovation is that when people see it, it becomes blindingly obvious to them. They wonder why this hasn't been invented already!"

MacGeo representatives will be invited to attend an awards evening at the London Hilton on Park Lane on June 5.

Nuala's 'grand' target for cancer charity

Entertainer 'discovered' at 60 hoping to raise £1,000 from debut CD sales in memory of dad

Report by Kenny Parker

A CARE home entertainer who discovered she had a talent for writing music when she was 50 and released her first album at 60 is now harnessing her talents to raise £1,000 for a cancer charity in memory of her late father.

Nuala Duxbury from Lathom was thrilled when she released her debut CD - appropriately entitled I'd Rather be 60 than Sweet 16 - June last year.

Produced with the help of local musicians, Davy Edge and Phill Orme, at Phill's recording studio in Burscough, the CD attracted interest from BBC Music Introducing, which is dedicated to discovering and supporting new music, and she appeared on both Radio Merseyside and Radio Lancashire.

Nuala said: "It was very exciting and there was always the chance that I might be 'discovered' at the tender age of 60! My dad, who was incredibly supportive, would have been so proud of me."

Sadly, her dad, Arthur Magennis, was diagnosed with myeloma - a form of blood cancer - and died before the release of the CD, which features six songs, including the title track.

Now, Nuala, who works as an entertainer in care homes in Lancashire and Merseyside, is selling her CDs to raise money for Myeloma UK which works to find a cure for the disease as well as supporting patients and their families.

Nuala added; "Although Myeloma is the second most common form of blood cancer, I'd never even heard of it before my dad's diagnosis.

"I'd love to think that my CDs could help in some small way towards funding to find a cure."

The entertainer has raised more than £200 to date via donations on her JustGiving page, www.justgiving.com/nuala-duxbury, and selling her CDs for £5. Now, she is hoping local clubs and societies will book her to perform and help boost her fundraising campaign.

The cover of Nuala's debut CD.

"I've already entertained at a luncheon club in Huyton where everyone was incredibly supportive and I have another booking in St Helens later in the year but if anyone else like to book me that would be wonderful."

She also hopes people will offer their support by visiting her website www.nualaduxbury.co.uk and simply donating £1 and asking everybody they know to donate £1.

"That way we can hopefully create a ripple effect and reach my target of raising £1,000. For a £1 donation you have a one in five chance of winning a copy of the CD, for a £5 donation you will receive a CD and every single penny raised goes to Myeloma UK."

The CDs are available online from website www.nualaduxbury.co.uk, where you can listen to all six songs, or you can buy them from All About Hair in Liverpool Road North, Burscough, and Enelle's Glasshouse restaurant in Lord Street, Southport.

New book tells 'human story' of wartime naval airbase

Report by Kenny Parker

LOCAL historian Michael Dawson has written a new book which aims to tell the 'human story' of the former HMS Ringtail naval base in Burscough.

Founder of the Images of Burscough and Surrounding Areas heritage group, Michael has previously written six books or booklets but says his latest book, HMS Ringtail, Royal Naval Air Station Burscough: A Pearl Under the Clouds, is his biggest undertaking "by far".

He says the aim of the book is to tell the human side of the Ringtail story to make it more interesting to a wider range of readers who might not appreciate the more technical side of the subject.

HMS Ringtail has held a lifelong fascination for Michael, the site having been an adventure playground for him when was a young boy in the 1970s, and then becoming a hobby as he learned about its important role as a naval airbase in the Second World War.

The site is now occupied by an industrial estate and retail park with the Booths supermarket there designed to resemble a Second World War aircraft hangar.

However, Michael says many people don't know about HMS Ringtail's illustrious past and its important role and the local historian says it amuses him to see the looks of disbelief and 'don't be silly' expressions when he tells them about it.

The 60-page book, containing more than 80 photos and several illustrations, is the result of many hours of painstaking research, assisted by two fellow enthusiasts, Lawrence Critchley and Ray Jones.

Michael says: "My challenge was how put it all together as a book and to make it interesting for all to read, as I am aware the subject matter is not for everyone. Including the human story, rather than just the technical side of the air station, seemed the way to go.

Michael Dawson with a copy of his new book about HMS Ringtail.

"This would cover local history, stories from inside the base from the people who were there and, most importantly and something many people don't realise, the effect on local people who lost their homes and farms requisitioned by the state through compulsory purchase order in the Second World War so that HMS Ringtail could be built.

"With all that in mind I have tried to put together a balanced story of Burscough's old naval airfield from its beginnings and right up to the present day."

The book is priced at £12.50, with all profits going to Images of Burscough to help fund exhibitions and add to the archive.

To buy a copy, contact the author on 07795 578 025 or send a cheque to: Michael Dawson, 54 The Quays, Burscough, L40 5TW, adding £2 for postage and packaging if required. Michael says he is happy to deliver in the Burscough area.

Opportunity to find out how to become a local councillor

IF you've ever fancied becoming a borough or parish councillor, now's your chance to find out what it entails and how to go about it ahead of forthcoming local elections.

West Lancs Council and 10 local parish councils are holding elections on Thursday, May 2 and new candidates can stand if they meet the eligibility criteria.

There will be 18 seats contested in this year's borough council elections - one in each of the wards - and 81 seats across the parishes.

Councillors have three main roles as follows:

- To represent the people in their local area and listen to their views.
- To make decisions about how the council is run, what services should be provided, and how money is spent.
- To provide community leadership, for example enabling different organisations to work together to make their area a better place.

To help and encourage would-be new candidates West Lancs Council is holding a briefings for people interested in standing for election, or acting as an agent, in the Council Chamber at 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk on Monday, March 11 at 12.30pm and 5.30pm.

Kim Webber, Returning Officer at West Lancashire Borough Council.

Kim Webber, Returning Officer for the May elections, said: "The briefinngs will cover what you need to know about the election process. There will also be the opportunity to speak informally to electoral officers after the event. People who are interested in standing are invited to come along to one of the briefings.

"There are no set qualifications or experience required to be a councillor. For example, skills gained through raising a family, volunteering or being active in faith or community groups are just as valuable as skills gained in employment or training.

"The role is a responsible position which allows you to make a real difference to the area you represent."

Candidates must be British or a citizen of the Commonwealth, be at least 18 years old, registered to vote in the area or have lived, worked or owned property there for at least 12 months before an election.

Current eligibility criteria also includes EU citizens but that is likely to change if the UK exits the EU on March 29 as planned.

You can't be a councillor if you work for the authority you want to stand for, or for another local authority in a political restricted post.

Other exclusions include being subject to a bankruptcy restrictions order (or interim order); being sentenced to prison for three months or more (including suspended sentences) during the five years before election day; or being convicted of a corrupt or illegal practice by an election court

To register your interest in attending the briefing or to find out more, contact the Elections Team on 01695 585013 or by email to elections.office@westlancs.gov.uk.

In addition, the council's website provides details on the election for both voters and prospective candidates at www.westlancs.gov.uk/elections.

Champion NEWSPAPERS

More than 95% of county's secondary pupils allocated places at preferred schools

...and final figures could rise pending appeals

MORE than 95 % of pupils in Lancashire will be attending one of their preferred secondary schools or academies this September, according to the county council.

The authority's figures for secondary school admissions show that 83.6% of pupils will get their first preference; 8.7% will go to schools which were their second choice; and 3% will attend their third preference school.

The remaining 4.7% have been allocated places at other schools.

However, the numbers of those receiving preferred places is likely to rise as appeals are heard and other adjustments are made.

County Councillor Susie Charles, Lancashire's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "Waiting to find out which secondary school you've been allocated can be an anxious time, for both parents and children.

"I have first-hand experience of this, so I know exactly how parents feel at this time.

"I'm pleased to know that 95.3% of pupils in Lancashire will be getting one of their three preferences and 83.6% have their first preference. Importantly, every pupil whose application was received on time has been allocated a secondary school place.

County Councillor Susie Charles, Lancashire County Council's cabinet member for children, young people and schools.

"School places are allocated fairly and objectively, and every application is agreed upon using the criteria which have been agreed for that school.

"Our admissions team do a good job advising parents how to use their preferences wisely and, what to do if they are unhappy with the place they've got.

"And there's still a lot of movement with the allocation of school places between now and September."

Advice

This year more than 95% of parents overall chose to complete their application online.

The council says parents will receive details about who to contact for advice and information on school admissions and appeals in the offer letter or email they receive.

Appeals are heard locally and those for Lancashire secondary schools will take place during the summer term.

For more information, visit www.lancashire.gov.uk/schools. Parents can also call on 0300 123 6707.

Burscough Village

3 PAGE FEATURE

A large village located north of Ormskirk, Burscough is a thriving community, home to an excellent choice of unique independent businesses offering an excellent alternative to shopping in the larger towns and cities.

Burscough developed originally as a small farming village on a low ridge above the West Lancashire Coastal Plain. Of early importance to the village was Burscough Priory, the ruins of which stand to the southwest of the current settlement. With the building of the Leeds and Liverpool Canal and the coming of the railways in the mid-18th century, new developments took place north of the original village, in what became Burscough Bridge.

With the development of many new housing estates and apartments in the area, Burscough's population has recently grown rapidly.

The village is home to a truly delightful selection of independent shops many of which have been part of the community for many years. You really can find pretty much everything you could want here and you can also be sure of great service and a very warm welcome. There is plenty of free parking and plenty to see and do in the village itself and close by.

Burscough Wharf – firmly in the heart of Burscough

Back in 2009 the then British Waterways offered up derelict buildings on the side of the Leeds/Liverpool Canal for sale and local Burscough company Thomas Guy Limited decided to invest. Since opening its doors in February 2011, thousands of people have visited, shopped, dined and been entertained at Burscough Wharf and the site recently celebrated its 8th birthday.

The unique development is located in the heart of Burscough village, on the banks of the Leeds/Liverpool canal. Comprising of over 12,000 sq ft of refurbished canal-side buildings, the Wharf is a vibrant retail and leisure complex made up of independent local businesses. there are five different places to eat offering a wide variety of food and drink choices, a fantastic gift shop, a special furniture & homewear shop attached to our tea room, a brand new bridalwear and accessories shop, a music school offering tutoring across the whole spectrum of musical instruments, a hair salon, a sewing, soft furnishing and craft class studio, a financial consultant and a community Arts Centre offering Jazz nights, Comedy Club, Ukelele Club as well as providing a user led approach to services for people with learning difficulties. We also have our unique baby scanning service on site.

The Wharf hosts various events in the courtyard. Due to its success last year the Artisan Market started again last Sunday and will be on every fortnight through to November with a special Xmas event at the end of the year.

One of the biggest events in its calendar is Burscough Heritage Weekend. This year is no different and the 1940's themed event will take place on 22nd & 23rd June 2019 so look out for more details. As part of this event the annual Raft Race will happen on Sunday afternoon and once again we are looking for new competitors. Cycling clubs are biggest offenders when it comes to flouting the rules of the road

IT is very interesting to see that Tony Richardson of Newburgh writes (Letters, February 20) to say that the Highway Code advises cyclists should not ride more than two abreast and that they may need to move into a single file in some situations.

The code quite clearly states; 'never ride more than two abreast, and ride in single file on narrow or busy roads and when riding round bends.'

This is quite clearly not an advert to ride two abreast as 'the norm' as he states in his letter, as bends and busy narrow roads figure a lot in this area.

He also says that it takes less time to overtake a group of a given number when they are two abreast than when they are in a single file, such as a cycling club. Not so when the group is 20-plus in number, cycling two and sometimes three abreast, on a busy road and usually narrow one as well, is contrary to the Highway Code.

This is the equivalent of overtaking a slow, large vehicle and very often there is traffic coming the other way and therefore is not possible which leads to frustration and dangerous attempts to pass the group.

Whilst having concern for cyclists and the interaction with other traffic, it's about time the cycling groups that take to the roads on a Sunday, in particular, got their members to ride to the Highway Code and stop abusing motorists with unauthorised hand signals (!) who in their opinion are in the wrong by overtaking them.

They should ride with consideration to others by abiding by the traffic rule of law such as stopping at traffic lights; signalling their intention to turn; giving way to traffic at major road junctions before turning out in front of them; not riding at speed down pavements; ride in single file not two or three abreast; not weaving in and out of traffic streams when in slow traffic; not coming alongside a vehicle that is signalling the intention to turn left etc.

The biggest offenders are the cycling clubs' mob-handed outings. You are not the fastest or only thing with wheels on the road. Try splitting your groups into two or three blocks so that other vehicles can get by safely and more importantly you are safe.

The ordinary cyclists commuting to work, shopping or out for the ride, are not the problem.

Pete Monks, by email.

Appalled by plans to demolish a much-loved building for even more student accommodation

PEOPLE of all ages are appalled at the latest plans submitted to West Lancashire Borough Council to demolish the 1936 art deco Regal Cinema building, currently housing Poundstretcher, in Church Street, Ormskirk near the Parish Church.

The level of resentment and anger to this is huge. It is unbelievable that this can even be considered, and what do the developers intend to replace this much-loved, (yes, it is much-loved) building with? Yes, another huge student block!

Student are fine and young people are good for the town, but there is a large student block being built in Church Street right near this Regal building! And there is already a large amount of student accommodation around the town, and also plans for a large block on the bus station site. Is this not enough?

It is all too encompassing in our little town, so much so that local people feel engulfed by it, disheartened, sidelined, and ignored. A sense of place, pride and belonging is being slowly eroded and lost.

To even consider thinking of destroying yet another of Ormskirk's grand buildings is wrong. They were built with skill and care by craftsmen of the past, to continue the destruction is doing their memory a great dishonour.

Shocking

It is our heritage, the people's town who have worked and lived here and have great affection for it. We want to retain what we have left for posterity, people do not want to see another building unnecessarily destroyed.

The plans to demolish 37 Church Street, site of the art deco Regal Cinema built in 1936 and currently housing Poundstretcher, are truly shocking. People are incensed by this and it must not be allowed to happen.

Objections to be in by Sunday, March 10 to West Lancashire Borough Council at plan.apps@westlancs.gov.uk, planning ref: 2019/0089/FUL.

C.T., Ormskirk, by email.

Champion's role in giving voice to concerns about Local Plan recognised

AT a recent meeting our group (West Lancs area committee, Lancashire Association of Local Councils) agreed the Champion newspaper had played an important part in giving voice to the many local residents, both individuals and community-based groups, who strongly opposed West Lancashire Borough Council's plans to destroy a considerable amount our pristine agriculturally productive farm land for what was always suspected to be unnecessary levels of housing development.

Through a number of specific articles, which always gave a balanced commentary on all parties perspective, and through the publishing of a wide range of letters articulating people's well-justified concerns and objections, the Champion facilitated a greater understanding of the issues in the wider community.

We are sure that this in turn encouraged many individuals to post representations during the consultation phase. Collectively these representations, along with pressure from community groups, parish councils, councillors from all parties and even our MP Rosie Cooper, persuaded the council to take a pause and reconsider their plans.

To be clear though, we are astute enough to realise this is only a temporary respite. Factions within the borough council, both politicians and officers, seem determined to push ahead with their unprecedented 30-year plan. We suspect that they will try to continue with reduced but still excessive housing development targets, in the assumption residents will be so grateful that they will roll over and accept any reduction as a victory, whilst the developers plough on with their building bonanza.

So concerned were the Campaign For the Protection of Rural England (CPRE) that, with support from parish councils they commissioned an expert study which proved the council's housing need figures were more than twice what was needed.

Furthermore, recent disclosures from neighbouring councils appear to refute the claim that WLBC was being forced to meet other councils' housing needs.

So thanks again for playing your role in disseminating important information and ideas - but don't put your notepads away just yet.

Dave, by email, details supplied.

My 'leave' vote was a vote for the younger generation

I FIND it quite puzzling that David Pryer, (Letters, February 27) seems to think that all leave voters don't have children and grandchildren.

By voting to leave that's exactly who I was thinking of, our younger generation, hopefully by the Government using the millions given to Europe every year to be spent on the NHS, our crumbling roads, rail network, etc instead.

Eric Ormesher, Burscough.

Council plaudits merited for money well-spent on jewel in old town's crown

OK, I might be bucking the trend of negativity towards Skem but here goes...

What an absolute delight it was during the recent unseasonal glorious weather, some of it coinciding wonderfully with half-term, to see Coronation Park, Skem rammed with children, parents and grandparents enjoying the recently-installed new play equipment.

Yes, you've read that right - Coronation Park, SKEM, not Coronation Park, ORMSKIRK!

Indeed, in my 33 years of living next to the park I've never seen so many people using the facilities.

Our local council take a battering in this letters page sometimes so let's be as quick to hand out the plaudits for money well-spent, Coronation Park - the jewel in Old Skem's crown.

Peter Etherington, Upppingham, Skelmersdale.

Care trust awarded gold standard for work experience programme

LANCASHIRE Care NHS Foundation Trust has become the first NHS organisation in the North West to be awarded gold standard accreditation for the quality of its work experience programme under the new partnership agreement with Health Education England.

The trust's employment services team have been recognised for their work in improving the quality of the programme by receiving the Fair Train Work Experience Quality (WEQs) Gold Standard accreditation.

The team are responsible for overseeing vocational learning including apprenticeships, work experience and employability programmes and recently introduced a new application process and guidance for managers, in order to make it easier for students to apply for placements.

Following on from this new placement areas have been introduced across Lancashire offering a wider variety of learning experiences to people from all different backgrounds.

As part of the accreditation process, the team were assessed against student resources and documentation, how the organisation links to schools and colleges and how they ensure students meet their learning outcomes.

Trust vocational learning co-ordinator, Natalie Bradley: "...massive achievement... recognises hard work".

Fair Train recognised the trust for many areas of strength including its Work Experience Passport, Work Experience Guidance and Work Placement Directory which were all described as examples of exemplary practice.

Natalie Bradley, vocational learning co-ordinator at Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust, said: "To come in at gold in such a short space of time is a massive achievement for the team and the trust as a whole. It recognises all the hard work that went in to developing the resources, promoting opportunities for work experience and our dedication to providing good quality placements for students. The accreditation lasts for two years and we now have an official logo to illustrate this success."

Deborah Cox, deputy director of workforce and organisational development at the trust, commented: "We are committed to providing valuable work experience and development to our local community and to promote careers within Lancashire Care. The work experience programme will provide an insight into the wide variety of careers within the NHS and will hopefully help us to attract and secure the workforce of the future."

And Rod Natkiel, chief executive at Fair Train, added: "It's great to welcome Lancashire Care into 'the Fair Train family' and to be able to accredit it at gold, our top level. Workforce development is crucially important to any organisation and carefully thought-through and well-run vocational learning plays a key role in attracting the talent of the future.

"Lancashire Care has clearly demonstrated its commitment to this and to carrying it out at consistently high quality, which is making a hugely valuable contribution to the wide range of services with which the trust supports so many people in the county."

Your guide to selecting Early Education and Child Care providers

One of the biggest issues facing our children today is the lack of outdoor play and physical exercise - children nowadays have limited opportunity to get outside and have fun in the real world!

Some of the statistics are frightening. A report by the National Trust said that the majority of children play outside less than one hour a day. That's almost a third of the time we spent outdoors 30 years ago when we were children!

This lack of outdoor activity means children concentrate less, become more unruly, are less able to mix and socialise, are less imaginative and then there's the rise in obesity.

For many, the rise in 'screen time' is the biggest concern.

Researchers are now looking at the long term effect of too much television, time spent on mobile devices and playing computer games.

They talk of the 're-wiring of the mind' and danger to young brains. Rather than using their senses to build dens, interact, build social skills and work in teams, while exploring and learning, children are becoming sponges to a one-way traffic of entertainment.

So how can we do our best to foster an attitude of discovery, creativity and good, old fashioned outdoor play from an early age?

Anyone who has taken their child camping will appreciate that things haven't changed that much.

Children love playing outdoors, but we need to make sure it happens. One increasingly popular idea is Forest School. In Scandinavia the motto is simple: There's no such thing as bad weather, only inappropriate clothes.

Although it may be colder than it is in our country, the Scandinavians have never let that get in the way.

They cycle in the snow, they play outside in the rain, they camp in the cold, they build campfires no matter what the season.

The idea of Forest School began in the 1950s in Sweden, but it is now thankfully being appreciated in the UK. It focuses on the natural world, exploring and observing our environment, working in teams to move logs, make dens and take managed risks.

Rather than mollycoddling, this is about taking responsibility, building confidence, investigating our limits, appreciating life and enjoying the outdoors.

Armed with wellies, waterproofs and snacks, children can spend two or three hours in the woods, they hang hammocks, they create imaginary worlds, they cook s'mores, they do treasure hunts, they read books and make up stories in circles.

And they always, always love it.

- Do the carers know first aid?
- What is the staff 's view on discipline?
- What activities are on offer?

- Who can you talk to about your child's progress?

- Children who attend a good quality setting are more likely to be more independent, better able to concentrate and more sociable at the start of primary school. The benefits of part-time attendance are those of full-time attendance.

Which childcare is best for you?

With so many parents both working full time these days the issue of childcare is a major one.

There are several options available but choosing the right one for your family can sometimes be a difficult task. Before you make a decision ...

• Give yourself plenty of time to choose. Holiday play schemes and other seasonal childcare service can booked up well in advance.

• Make appointments to visit two or three providers to compare what's on offer. This will allow you to look at the services available and chat to the staff.

• Always consider your child in your decision, even if they are far too young to make a choice themselves. Where do you think they would prefer?

• Ask other parents for their suggestions and recommendations.

• Check opening times, holiday dates and, most importantly, costs.

It's not just the climate that's changing, it's our attitude to it

I'M tapping this out on the first day after the false spring that sprung last week has ended and we're back to cold and damp again - and do you know, I don't like it much.

I really enjoyed those few days of warm, sunny weather so I suppose I shouldn't complain, it was, after all, still winter and to be truthful, around here at least, we haven't seen much of that to date.

Mind you, it's a few years now since we had what I used to call winter. That started when the Leeds-Liverpool Canal froze over, as it used to do every year. And though I'm no fan of climate change for all kinds of reasons, I certainly can do without the bone-chilling winters we used to suffer.

A sign of getting old perhaps? Or maybe, simply being sensible. After all, no-one surely actually enjoys being cold?

When I was working in Colchester some years ago, I remember one winter when I actually slept in my office simply because I had an early start and the snow was so thick that I didn't fancy the long walk back in the morning. But in the morning I tottered off to the railway station and caught a train to London and from there to Bletchley Park of WW2 code-deciphering fame. At that time it was owned (or perhaps rented) by British Telecom as its Eastern Region training establishment with new apartments for visiting students - and me.

The hall itself (you must have seen it many times on TV) was turned over to admin, plus a dining room, bar and a snooker room. I've wondered for ages as to when and why BT off-loaded this wonderful place with its historic connections and who runs it now and for what?

Still, back to climate change. It's not only the climate that is changing, it's our reaction to it as well. In this month's issue of my Buses magazine there is a photo of a bus and several private motors apparently stuck in the snow somewhere. And on telly there have been pictures of schools closed because teachers (and I suppose pupils) couldn't get in because of the snow.

Yet in all of these images, I saw nothing to compare with what in the fairly recent past we considered winter and certainly from the scenes on TV and this apparently 'stuck' bus and cars in my magazine, I quite honestly find it hard to believe what we ordinary mortals used to be able to take in our stride.

And I'm not talking about my now far-off childhood (though I can't recall a single winter day when schools around here shut). I'm going back to perhaps the 1980s at the earliest.

We managed. It was expected that you got yourself into work (or school). And car drivers, without many of the most modern driving aids available today, struggled through amounts of snow that today seem totally to wreck our transport systems, both public and private.

When you saw images of stranded vehicles (and there were plenty of those too) they were stuck in a snowdrift, not just a snow-covered road.

I suppose I am setting myself up to be pilloried for suggesting putting folk in danger, but whereas you'd be daft to attempt to drive over, for instance, a snow-laden Snake Pass, equally it is absurd, I think, to say you cannot drive on a perfectly ordinary road which just happens to have a covering of snow on it.

OK, I am a reactionary old duffer. But reactionary or not, what is certainly true is that not only in my youth, but well into more mature years, you were expected to struggle with winter conditions, not give up as the first snowflakes fell.

Now whether or not you agree with this philosophy, it does show, right or wrong, that our attitude to weather conditions is changing. Whether the weather is better or worse, does, I suppose, depend on your individual reaction to it - and in the case of flooding, where you live too.

I'm afraid though, electric cars and buses or not, we're stuck with it.

Health and Wellbeing event for people affected by cancer

Report by Danielle Thompson

A HEALTH and Wellbeing event aimed at anyone who has been affected by cancer, whether directly or through supporting someone, is being held in Southport next week.

Running from 2 to 4.30pm on Thursday, March 14 at The Royal Clifton Hotel on The Promenade, the session has been organised by Southport Macmillan Cancer Information and Support Centre in partnership with Southport & Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust.

The centre, a joint initiative set up by Macmillan and NHS Southport and Formby Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), says the event will features lots of information stalls for people to visit and access support from cancer nurse specialists, support groups and other key organisations.

Kate Wilson from Access Sefton will give a presentation at 3.15pm about talking therapies and emotional wellbeing and there will also be a mindful movement taster session; Boots mini pamper sessions; and hand massages by charity Sefton OPERA throughout the afternoon.

Dr Graeme Allan, Macmillan GP and NHS Southport and Formby CCG cancer clinical lead, said: "These events are ideal for people to come along and meet others who have had a similar experience.

"It is always useful to share and the hope is that there may be an activity or group out there that suits an individual's needs, so you might go away with an idea of what we can help you with. It's a friendly and informative event and everyone is very welcome."

And Elaine Deeming, Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust's lead cancer nurse, added: "We're delighted to continue to build on the success of previous health and wellbeing clinics.

"The events provide access to the wide range of services available locally in one venue, making it easier for our attendees."

The event is free of charge and refreshments are provided, but booking is essential by calling 01704 533024 or emailing sfccg.macmillancic@nhs.net.

Station open day being staged as part of drive to recruit retained firefighters

Report by Kenny Parker

Lancashire Fire and Rescue Service are looking for retained firefighters in West Lancs.

LANCASHIRE Fire and Rescue Service is again seeking to recruit retained firefighters from across West Lancs with applications open from Monday, March 11 to Friday, March 29.

Meanwhile the service is holding an open day at Tarleton fire station in Hesketh Lane on Saturday, March 9 to give would-be recruits a chance to have a look around and find out more about what the role entails.

Retained firefighters provide a back-up service to full-time staff and are paid a salary and receive compensation for call-outs and training.

Applicants, aged 18-plus, should have a good level of all-round fitness with no underlying health conditions. They should also live or work within five minutes of their nearest station (Tarleton, Ormskirk or Skelmersdale); have a good standard of eyesight (no colour blindness) and hearing (aided/unaided); and be literate and numerate.

They must also be available to provide evening and daytime cover, work well with others and have no criminal convictions.

The salary for retained officers is variable depending on hours of cover, but the basic monthly salary ranges from £240 to around £600. In addition, officers are paid an hourly rate of about £10 per hour for call-outs and training.

Retained support officer, Dave Whitley, said: "The recruitment open event will give full access to our fire station and officers will be on hand to provide on-call recruitment information, along with equipment demonstrations and even let individuals try fire kit and equipment. Our intention is to hopefully gain some new members by showing how rewarding it can be to represent the community they live and work in"

Also present at the open day will County Councillor Nikki Hennessy and senior fire service managers.

Councillor Hennessy, who has visited all the fire stations in the borough in her role as a member of Lancashire Combined Fire Authority, said; "All firefighters do such a great job keeping our community safe. This is a good opportunity for the community to come along and see how the fire station works but primarily we want to recruit local retained fire fighters."

Candidates will be required to complete application and medical forms; take fitness and psychometric tests, and take part in a practical assessment day and interview.

Free drama workshops for secondary pupils

BUDDING thespians in the borough can benefit from free workshops in both acting and musical theatre, as part of an outreach initiative by Liverpool Theatre School.

The Aigburth stage school will deliver the sessions to secondary schools and sixth form colleges across the region to support and encourage talented young performers.

During the workshops, pupils will have an opportunity to learn some of the basic principles of acting or performing in musical theatre. They can also find out more about working in the industry and pick up useful tips from experts.

Maxine Ellis, principal at Liverpool Theatre School, said: "Our outreach programme is designed to give secondary school pupils and college students an insight into the performing arts industry as an attainable career choice, regardless of their financial circumstances.

"We offer a number of funded places including scholarships with The Stage and the Andrew Lloyd Webber Foundation."

Liverpool Theatre School recently became the first stage school in the country to axe its audition fees and is the only training organisation in Merseyside to offer the Trinity College London Diploma in both Professional Musical Theatre and Professional Acting. For further details email info@liverpooltheatreschool.co.uk or call 0151 728 7800.

College students get an insight into university life

STUDENTS at West Lancashire College have been given an insight into university life thanks to a county-wide initiative which aims to support progress in to higher education.

A group of 20 first and second-year students on the college's Public Services course enjoyed a presentation by Robin Duffy, an ambassador for the Future U programme.

Led by the University of Central Lancashire (UClan) Future U is a £2.2m scheme involving institutions and organisations across the county, including Lancaster University, Edge Hill University, the University of Cumbria, Blackburn College, Myerscough College and West Lancashire College.

A network of 53 schools, in addition to colleges, higher education providers and local agencies, work together to create activities tailored to the needs of their students

23-year-old Robin, who is studying an MSc in disaster management at UCLan, after achieving a degree in forensic science and criminal investigation, drew on his own experiences to give the West lancs College students an in-depth overview of all aspects of university life. These included applying for places, obtaining student finance, arranging accommodation, managing timetables, budgeting and exploring extra-curricular activities.

Robin Duffy provided an in-depth overview of all aspects of university life.

He said: "It's exciting to achieve your goal and being at university showed me that it's possible. I have had lots of experiences at university, including a field trip to Arizona to investigate a plane crash, playing for the university football team and spending my summers working as a camp leader at Camp America.

"I have done so much in such a short space of time and it's possible for anyone. That's why I aim to inspire future students."

Jessica Richmond, an outreach officer at Future U, said: "We find that college students can relate to university students as they find them inspiring. The talks show students that 'someone like me' can go to university and demonstrate that there is so much more to university than just studying.

"We want to allow pupils to explore their strengths, interests and ambitions to realise what possibilities there are for young people wanting to go on into further education.

"There are opportunities out there that need to be grabbed and Future U can highlight those possibilities."

And Mike Cooney, Public Services course team leader at West Lancashire College, added: "Guest speakers contribute to student enrichment and gives them inspiration for future career opportunities, to see real life situations of comparable learners who have been successful."

Four-figure donation will make a 'huge difference' to local charity

OFFICIALS of a West Lancs-based charity are celebrating after receiving a four-figure donation which they say will make a "huge difference" for them.

Sporting Challenge, which provides activities for young people and adults with learning disabilities, was awarded £3,000 by the London-based Leathersellers' Company Charitable Fund.

The Leathersellers' Company was founded in the 15th century to originally regulate the sale of leather in the capital but now focuses on supporting charities, education and the British leather trade.

It provides a wide range of funding to UK-registered charities, educational institutions and university students.

Sporting Challenge activities organiser, Edward McCarthy, said: "On behalf of Sporting Challenge I wish to thank the Leathersellers' fund for this most generous grant. It will make a huge difference."

Members and guests at the Rotary Club Of Maghull and Aughton's presentation evening.

Rotary Club says 'thanks'

THE Rotary Club of Maghull and Aughton hosted their annual presentation evening in Maghull Town Hall providing an opportunity to thank local community and charity group leaders for their support with the club's annual Christmas Float collection.

During the evening, Maghull's Town Mayor, Councillor Clare Carragher, also presented cheques to the respective charities and groups, while the event also showcased some of the club's other achievements including support of local hospices, the Wheelchair Foundation, Mary's Wheels and the Evolve drug abuse charity.

Ian Agnew, the community service chairman with the Rotary Club of Maghull and Aughton, said: "The club's motto, 'Serving the Community' is proudly displayed on the Christmas Float and our involvement with so many community groups and ambitious projects on presentation night clearly demonstrated that the club is well and truly doing just that."

Who Cares? We Care!

There comes a point in our lives, generally as we get older, when most of us will come to rely on a care service program, whether for ourselves or a relative. From home services, therapy services, to residing in a care home, fortunately we are lucky to live in communities that offer so many different options in levels of care. However, with such a vast array of choices available, it can often prove daunting and confusing when selecting which is going to be the right option for you or a close relative.

The one common goal for both the patient and the professionals is to ensure that people remain as independent as they can for as long as possible. Over the next few pages the Champion offers you a choice, as well as advice of what services are out there, and what you can expect from them.

Where care is concerned, one size can never fit all!

West Lancashire DIAL A RIDE

Booking & Information:

A service for anyone who cannot use public buses because of disability, age or rural isolation.

Our door to door services will take you anywhere in West Lancashire*.

Dial-a-Ride services are supported by Lancashire County Council and West Lancashire Borough Council.
*Services subject to availability. West Lancashire Dial-a-Ride is registered with the Financial Conduct Authority as an exempt charity No. 23786R.

Transport

In later life, being able to get out and about is a vital way to stay part of the local community and to access local amenities. Free local bus travel is a lifeline for people who do not drive but often this isn't an option for those who live in more rural locations or for others where declining mobility prevents them from using public transport due to needing extra assistance. When travelling on buses and other public transport proves too difficult, there are a number of reliable pick up services you can benefit from. These services are key in helping people remain independent and ensuring they are able to get out to the shops, make doctors appointments and travel to their day care centres. Dial A Ride is one such service and is a free door to door initiative with vehicles specially adapted for wheelchair access. Your local council will be able to provide more details.

The benefits of Hydrotherapy

Who Cares? We Care!

Hydrotherapy can therapeutically reduce and relieve pain and muscle tension. Promoting relaxation, it reduces pressure on weight bearing joints whilst exercising. It also improves and maintains the range of joint movement and helps increase muscle strength and endurance along with pre-operative muscle strengthening. It therefore can be beneficial for post-operative rehabilitation. The therapy helps improve circulation and lowers blood pressure along with many other benefits including relaxation for well-being, for anyone of any age. Hydrotherapy has proved to be extremely beneficial for chronic pain and conditions such as Fibromyalgia/ chronic fatigue, mental health, Arthritis/ Osteoarthritis, Multiple Sclerosis and many more. It's also extremely popular with those just in need of complete relaxation.

Staying at Home & Home Care

Who Cares? We Care!

Most of us want to live independent lives, in our own homes for as long as possible. Yet when we begin to struggle with daily chores or getting from A to B, life can become very difficult. The good news is that even if you are recovering from an illness, or a fall, or you need help with your long-term care, there are many support services available.

By making a few changes and by learning to rely on the right services, staying at home longer can be a reality.

Home care (also known as domiciliary care) describes care services that enable people to live in their own homes, and are usually provided by care workers or nurses. Home care can be tailored and adapted over time to match the ever changing needs of the individual. From shopping, to cooking and cleaning, or simply planned visits to relieve someone from the acute sense of loneliness, home care services can focus on just one or multiple needs, as and when they arise and it is an effective way of enabling people to remain independent in their own homes.

Care Homes & Assisted Living

When living at home is simply no longer possible, care homes offer the very best solution. Sometimes the decision about care is clear cut. When an elderly parent suffers a fall or illness, resulting in a period of time spent in hospital, it then becomes apparent that returning to their own home is no longer an option. This however is not always the case and for those living independently in their own home, changes to their health and well-being can be much more gradual meaning it can be incredibly difficult and stressful deciding when to consider a move into a care home.

Many offer the opportunity to try them out over a short stay which can be a great way of experiencing life in a care home, particularly for someone who is initially reluctant. Care homes today are places of haven for patients, where teams of dedicated carers work tirelessly and care deeply about their residents.

If the individual is still reluctant to move into a care home, maybe assisted living is an option to be considered. Assisted living is a type of residential care that allows for independent living in a specialist complex. Facilities differ but usually nurses and care staff are provided on-site. These facilities are usually more appropriate for those with low level care needs.

Adapting your Home and Mobility

Who Cares? We Care!

Sometimes with age or illness, mobility can become a major concern and it may become harder to move around your home. However, there are an ever increasing number of useful adaptations that can be made to transform someone's life within their own home. Getting up and down the stairs, getting out of bed and taking a bath or a shower need not pose the problems they sometimes do thanks to an array of solutions available. It is possible to adapt your home so that it better suits your needs. If you are a wheelchair user then doorways can be widened and access to your property can be made easier with ramps, hand rails, better outdoor lighting and intercom systems for answering the door. You can have a second bannister fitted to help you with the stairs, or even have a stair lift or wheelchair lift installed. Bathrooms can be adapted in many ways with hoists or bath lifts to assist you in getting in and out of the bath, adapted showers and even wet rooms installed. And these changes need not be out of reach as financial help can be available.

Final Arrangements

When you lose someone, however prepared you may think you are, the reality is that you feel helpless and generally unable to think straight for a while. A funeral director will help and it pays to choose a firm as soon as possible. Furthermore with so many pre-paid funeral plans available, the earlier you decide on what you want, the easier it will be on your relatives.

Because a funeral director's responsibility is to ensure that a funeral meets the wishes of the family, he or she will ensure that the funeral is appropriate, dignified and carried out in a professional manner. He will also ensure that each element of the funeral complies with the law. At a time of loss, the funeral director will also be on hand to help with the many practicalities that a funeral demands.

For example, a funeral director may assist in moving the person who has died to their premises or your home, provide facilities to view the person who has died, order floral tributes, help you arrange a time and date for the funeral, ensure paperwork is in place, offer caskets to your budget, arrange music at the funeral itself, provide appropriate cars and staff on the day. In short a good funeral director will ensure the funeral is handled with total dignity and make it an occasion to match the person who died last wishes and his or her relatives.

Making a Will

Writing a will is one of the most important things you will ever do. After all, we spend the majority of our lives working to provide for ourselves and our loved ones. You may have property, shares, savings or investments as well as your personal possessions. All of these form your 'estate' and making a will ensures that when you die, this is shared according to your wishes.

So what will a solicitor need to know? Firstly you will need to make a list of all your assets that are to be included in the will. This should include property as well as vehicles you own, any savings or investments. You must then decide who will get what after you die. This is also the opportunity to add any particular wishes you have for your funeral.

You must then decide who will carry out your wishes after your death. The individual or people you appoint to be executors of your will, should ideally be familiar with financial matters. They could be friends or family members, or a professional such as your solicitor. Using a solicitor will incur fees but they will be familiar with the law and will therefore be able to provide sound advice and draw up your will as it should be.

The Skelmersdale Boundary Harriers ladies team at the last weekend's cross country event at Birchwood Forest Park, Warrington.

Skem Harriers' ladies end season in fine style

THE 49th running of the Parbold Hill Race saw a good turn-out of Skelmersdale Boundary Harriers and some significant wins for the club's women in the form of individual and team first places.

Becky Wadeson won the female 35 to 40 age category, Honor Thompson triumphed in the 40 to 45 age category, and was also the fifth woman home, while the 60 to 65 category was won by by Carol Quirk.

The club also scooped the women's team prize win thanks to the fine efforts of the three 'counters', Honor Thompson, Becky Wadeson and Jess Crook.

The 11km Parbold Hill Race is the pre-eminent regional hill race in the winter running calendar with its 600 places filled within a matter of days after entries open in early November.

The race is organised by Skelmersdale Boundary Harriers who will now be gearing up to celebrate the 50th running of the race next year.

The harriers have a long and proud history but in the past year two of its older members, Dave Goulding and Derek Dalton, sadly passed away.

This was marked at the race by the team wearing black armbands and a short speech was read before the start.

Meanwhile the good form shown by the Skelmersdale women was carried forward to the final race of the NW Sunday Cross Country League where, along with their sister club, the Parbold Pink Panthers, they won the final round and secured second place in the league and a valued piece of silverware.

This was a fine placing given the quality of competition from much larger clubs based in and around Merseyside.

The men's team also had a good final race placing of eighth, their best result for a number of years.

A short history of businesses in your area

We take a look back to... 1994 with Champion

Champion Media Group celebrated our 25th anniversary on Saturday 2nd March…..and they said it could not be done!

In 1994 motivated by the sudden sale and immediate closure of the Southport Globe, the Champion was born.

CEO Betty Drummond said: "The launch of the Champion and it's early history is a well-documented story of David and Goliath. The closure and loss of jobs at the Globe was the inspiration behind the Champion."

A handful of staff, with little more than will-power were determined to continue to produce a first class independent newspaper. After the Globe closed it's doors, and against all the odds, the team set about launching the Champion and within four days the first edition hit the streets. From a standing start with no resources, no money and no premises, the staff rallied. The editorial team hit the streets to gather news and prepared their stories on a borrowed Macintosh Classic. The sales staff worked from two bedrooms in the Scarisbrick Hotel, Southport.

Page production was managed across a couple of B&Q pasting tables and invoices were prepared in a garden shed.

TODAY...

Since then Champion titles have always "bucked the trend" by enjoying steady growth, while other newspaper publishers have cut back circulation or closed down titles. Since 1994 we have produced an ever-growing series of quality newspapers, serving the residents of Sefton, North Liverpool and West Lancashire.

MD Lyndsey Naylor said "The difference between the Champion and other titles is that we genuinely consider it an honour and a privilege to serve the community and to support local businesses through good times and bad. Publishing newspapers has never been tougher but the Champion team are as determined today as they were 25 years ago and with an unrivalled coverage to over 165,000 homes every week, we plan to be around for a long time yet."

Champion Media Group is now recognised as the longest established and largest independent publisher in the North West.

Where it all began...

Ormskirk, Grammar School, 1895

Proud heritage as a family owned and run business for 124 years!

Quality service with expert advice and help for all your furnishing needs - Stokers are the largest quality furniture business in the North West…

TODAY...

Stokers is in the care of its 4th generation and continues to go from strength to strength. As one of the oldest furniture retail businesses in the Northwest you really can feel at home with Stokers, it has always been a family run company and has a proud heritage that ensures a commitment to continuing a quality service to customers old and new.

The business was established by Alfred Stoker in 1895 in the market town of Ormskirk. Initially selling fabric and millinery the business progressed into selling carpets and floor coverings. As its reputation for quality and service grew, so too did Stokers as they extended into fine furniture. In 1950 Stokers acquired the former girls' school in Derby Street and it is from this beautiful old building they continue to sell quality furniture to this day. The building was recently recognised as part of the Ormskirk Heritage Trail with a visit from the Mayor.

Stokers steadily expanded as its reputation for quality grew and in 1998 the Stokers' Southport store was opened. The company soon opened a further store in 2007 with a purpose built showroom in the heart of Chester offering an extensive range of furniture for every room in the home. Stokers continue to invest and revamp their stores making them the destination of choice when looking for quality furnishings. Call in and browse their showrooms and you're sure to be given a warm family welcome.

Staffs.

Dear Son & DAUGHTER

After serving as a Captain in the 14-18 war, Mr William Henshaw a gentleman farmer of Wickens Farm, Uppermill Saddleworth returned home and bought the adjacent Stone Quarry, he named it W.Henshaw & Sons Limited reflecting his Four Sons. The business produced stone road sets, curbs, sand, crazy paving and graded stone from 12 inch to dust. The company also engaged in the construction of local roads.

TODAY...

In 1932 two of his sons Norman and Wilfred joined the company and the other two sons Gilbert and Albert who were talented landscapers opened a nursery and landscaping business in the upmarket town of Wilmslow and successfully traded from here for the next 50 years.

In 1933 William Henshaw sadly passed away and his Son Norman became the Managing Director of W Henshaw and Sons Limited. During the blitz the company was busy as the industry was deemed to be an essential part of the war effort, supplying aggregate and replacing roads and air strips damaged by nightly bombings from the Luftwaffe also supplying ballast to the US supply ships for their return trip home.

In 1957 William's Grandson Norman (JNR) joined the family business and expanded the landscaping side, opening site offices in Oldham, Manchester and Blackpool.

In 1972 Norman (JNR) moved to Southport and traded from Southport and Blackpool. His Father Norman (SNR) retired and the Quarry was sold.

Norman (JNR) continued expanding the business to include property development and demolition and demolished landmarks all over the Northwest including Morecombe Pier.

In 1983 Norman's sons Max and Guy entered the family business following in their Fathers, Grandfathers and Great Grandfathers foot steps. Their Father Norman recently retired from the business at the grand age of 84 and his eldest son Max has taken the reins continuing to expand the business joined by his two sons Max (JNR) and Robert Guy Henshaw.

The business has gone from strength to strength and now trades as MW HENSHAW along with its sister building company BuildRight (NW) Ltd. The company is in great demand due to the generations of experience, five star reviews, work ethic, intuitive designs and attention to detail... a family business that started nearly 100 years ago looks set to continue in the future.

We take a look back to... 1980 with Checkers of CHURCHTOWN

Where it all began...

Checkers was started back in October 1980 by David Wareham. When he moved into the old Co-op building that was being run as a furniture shop at the time.

TODAY...

At that point the shop employed 5 members of staff and occupied only the front lower section and all of the current upper floor area.

The downstairs had all of the hardware, paint and wallpaper. Whilst the upstairs housed timber, sand and cement, doors, sliding wardrobes and some kitchens.

We went into selling bedrooms some 24 years ago.

Approximately 22 years ago, we expanded the floor area of the downstairs when we took over what used to be called the Manor Club. Substantially increasing our wallpaper department to probably the largest one in the area. At the same time we increased the display area for Kitchens, Bedrooms and Bathrooms.

The move into the old Manor Club warranted the Mayor to officially open the newly expanded Checkers of Churchtown.

Some 5 years ago we also added a new section called the Pottery Barn. Home to housewares, gifts and a cookshop.

Checkers now employ some 12 members of staff, some of whom have been here since the shop was opened.

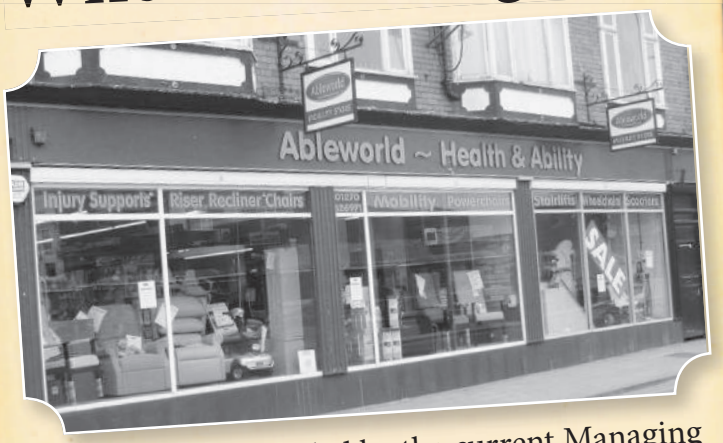
PUTTING THE FIRE BACK INTO LIFE SINCE 1979

We take a look back to... 2000 with Ableworld

Ableworld www.ableworld.co.uk Your Local Specialist

Where it all began...



Ableworld was founded by the current Managing Director, Mike Williams in 2000. The idea for the business sparked from the poor experience Mike had when trying to purchase products for his father to help maintain his independent quality of living.

He was shocked at how vulnerable people were often targeted by sales staff and put under pressure to purchase products with no advice and poor after sales service. Many products were sold at inflated prices and operators subcontracted stairlift leads out to third party companies in return for large commissions which were built into an inflated price.

TODAY...

Mike had significant experience in the retail sector, being one of the founder members of Focus DIY after learning his trade alongside David Quayle of what was then Block and Quayle, now B&Q. The strategy for the new Ableworld business was very clear in Mike's mind since it had to provide competitively priced living aids alongside open and honest advice for people to help them continue an independent quality of life. Mike was also keen from the very start that his new business should provide high levels of after sales service and so also established his own in-house engineering department who would install all stairlifts and provide ongoing 24/7 support with direct access to local trained engineers.

Ableworld opened its first store in Nantwich and there are now 34 stores in total across the UK with expansion plans well advanced to open further stores. In the North West, customers and local Health Professionals now have direct access to an in-house Occupational Therapist to help support the search for bespoke solutions. Ableworld have also just opened a new dedicated engineering department in the North West to provide the necessary infrastructure to service their increasing customer base in preparation for their new shops.

The company has maintained it's personal services despite its size by employing local staff and ensuring they all pass a rigorous training program. The scale of the operation now means that customers benefit from very competitive prices due to the purchasing power of the Ableworld Group and Ableworld are now well and truly at the forefront of the sector as the UK's leading mobility retailer plus, their extensive in-house engineering department is now the UK's largest independent installer of stairlifts.

Staying in the home that you love

The decision to buy a stairlift is often taken at a time of stress, often after a person has suffered a fall or received the news of a debilitating illness. In reality though, stairlifts should be embraced as a modern accessory to prevent falls and preserve the dignity of our loved ones, allowing them to stay and make use of their entire home and not be confined to living downstairs.

Here's a few pointers for you to consider when buying a stair lift: -

Shop Around

Most mobility retailers (and charities) will simply pass on your stairlift enquiry to another company and in return they will receive hundreds of pounds in commission. This commission is naturally built into the final price that you pay.

Aftersales Service & Costs

You need to ensure that you have total piece of mind with a good warranty from trained engineers. Check that there are no high servicing costs linked back to the warranty and who do you phone if something goes wrong ? …. are they local ?

Beware High Pressure Sales

Many firms employ high pressure sales teams who are paid commission. Don't invite them into your home unless you have somebody with you who can take notes and help you to encourage them to leave when you have heard enough! Better still, don't invite a sales person to your home until you have had chance to examine their brochures. Also, keep your home telephone number private so they can't pester you.

Try before you buy

You wouldn't buy any other household item of equipment without testing it first. This is particularly important when it comes to the seat on the stairlift since, just like people, seats come in many shapes and sizes and you need to feel safe on your stairlift.

Future Proof

By this, I mean plan ahead and think about what level of mobility you will have in another 5/10 years. For example, if you suffer from arthritis of the hand/wrist, you may struggle to turn the stairlift at the top of the stairs, so you may need to consider a motorised chair instead. Buy the stairlift now which is going to help you for the next ten years and not just the cheapest.

Shaun Crosby, Ableworld Stairlift Engineer.

Archery club offers free 'taster' session

OFFICIALS of a West Lancs-based club are offering beginners the chance to 'arrow' in on a sporting hobby with a difference.

Burscough Archers will be hosting another of their free have-a-go sessions at Asmall House Livery Stables, Asmall Lane, Ormskirk, on Saturday, March 16.

And there's no need to worry about the prevailing weather conditions on the day as the event, which will run from 1 to 4pm, is being held indoors.

No prior experience is needed to take part in this fun event and there's no age limit.

A spokesperson for the group, which has members from throughout West Lancashire - including Burscough, Ormskirk, Aughton, Skelmersdale and Tarleton - as well as Southport and Maghull, said: "If you can hold a bow you can have a go!"

And an experienced team of coaches will be on hand to take beginners through the basics.

This latest session follows on from a similar event last year which saw more than 100 participants. Since then the archers have expanded their coaching team with two new coaches whose training programme was fully sponsored by builders Taylor Wimpey with a grant from their local community fund.

One member, whose first taste of the sport came at last year's have-a-go event, said: "I was impressed by the standard of tuition and the friendly and welcoming nature of the club's coaches and members, which helped me to feel at ease and enjoy the experience.

"Now I enjoy both the personal and technical challenges of trying to improve my shooting ability, it gives me a real buzz!"

Further details are available on the Burscough Archers website at http://burscougharchers.org.uk.

Burscough Archers hope their latest free ' taster' session will attract new recruits to the sport.

WEIGHT LOSS EXPERTS RECOGNISED FOR DOING WHAT THEY LOVE

With every new year comes resolutions – one of the most common being to lose weight - and a group of local Simming World Consultants have helped a record number of new members do just that so far this year. The Consultants who run 15 succesful groupos throughtout West Lancashire were recently recognised for doing just that.

"With the rise of trendy fad diets, people are often seduced by the promise of fast weight losses and take quick-fix routes to lose weight. However, these methods of weight loss aren't sustainable – after all, who wants to feel hungry all the time or give up their favourite foods indefinitely? Especially when that often means that within weeks resolutions are a distant memory.

"This year Slimming World is celebrating it's 50th anniversary and since it was founded in 1969 it's helped millions of people to reach their dream weight. There's no magic pill when it comes to weight loss and the best weight-loss plan is the one you can stick to. Our members lose weight by making small changes to the way they shop, cook and eat and filling up on Free Food – foods that are low in calories but satisfying like pasta, lean meat, fruit, veg, potatoes and more – so they don't have to go hungry or give up their favourite meals, as well as gradually becoming more active and getting bucketloads of support along the way. They develop healthy habits that they can keep up for life, so they can not only reach their target weight but stay there forever." says Senior Consultant Tina Whewell, who has ran groups in Ormskirk for ovwer 25 years.

County council labelled 'rotten borough' by satirical magazine

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE County Council's controversial decision to double bus fares for disabled passengers from 50p to £1 saving £38,000, while spending the same amount on new iPhones for councillors, has earned the authority a 'Rotten Borough' award from satirical magazine, Private Eye.

The publication recently 'awarded' the Conservative-controlled council its Priorities in Order Award.

The 84 members of the county council were offered one of the following four options last August.

1. To keep their current handset.

2. To have an iPhone 7 (costing more than more than £400).

3. To have a basic phone at a cost of £30.

4. To use their own phone and have Airwatch access to county council emails and intranet.

At the same meeting the cost of concessionary travel for disabled NoW card users was doubled for journeys before 9.30am from 50p to £1 per journey.

Following the Private Eye 'award', County Councillor John Fillis, deputy leader of the county's Labour group who opposed both decisions, said: "It's sad but not surprising, that in just two years Lancashire County Council has hit a new low. Putting greed before need has become a mantra for this Conservative administration. The award is clearly in keeping with their actions making them a national disgrace."

The Skelmerdale East councillor added: "Is there any sign of empathy or understanding? No. One of the Conservative cabinet members at the time said that the disabled people would appreciate that they would only need to carry a £1 coin rather than a lot of change!"

County council leader Councillor Geoff Driver has been contacted for comment.

New baby-changing facility at Concourse

THE Concourse Centre in Skelmersdale has opened a new baby-changing facility on the first floor, in response to customer demand.

The facility, in the disabled toilet, means there are now baby-changing facilities on both floors of the centre, complementing the parent and baby room on the ground floor.

Customers will need a radar key to access the facilities, available from security or a cleaner, or they can call the security control room on 01695 723712, who will alert staff.

The Archbishop of York, Dr John Sentamu.

The archbishop will launch the activities with a special one-hour commissioning service at Liverpool Cathedral on Thursday, March 7 at 2pm.

Details of events can be found online at www.achurchnearyou.com by searching TellServeGive19.

Diverse

Archbishop Sentamu said: "It is wonderful that the churches across the Diocese of Liverpool have committed to Tell, Serve, Give.

"This will be a great weekend. I am looking forward to meeting many people across the Diocese and hope to see you at one of these fantastic events."

And Bishop of Liverpool, Paul Bayes, added: "I am delighted to welcome Archbishop Sentamu and my colleagues for this weekend of diverse activities around the Diocese of Liverpool.

"But I am more excited at the prospect of meeting a whole host of new people who I hope will join in with what's going on in their local church or worshipping community."

Donate a few hours of your time and help us save wetlands

Volunteers are at the heart of the WWT charity - without our volunteers we couldn't do what we do. Across the charity at 9 different centres, we have around 1,000 volunteers in a wide range of roles. From helping to keep our grounds and Here at Martin Mere Wetland Centre, we're looking for volunteers to join our family so we're holding a Volunteering Week from 18th-24th March for you to come and chat to us to find out more about the variety of roles available here.

We've got lots of opportunities for our Visitor Services Team, Grounds Team and Education Team and days and times are very flexible.

To volunteer with us, you don't need any expert knowledge, just a keen interest in people and wildlife, a flexible approach and a 'can-do' attitude. In return for donating your time to us, you get free entry to all 9 WWT Wetland Centres, 25% discount in our café and shop, free social events throughout the year and free training.

Volunteering is also a brilliant opportunity to meet new people, share your skills with others and develop new skills - all whilst working in our beautiful wetlands. Di, one of our Visitor Services Volunteers, has been volunteering with Martin Mere for over 3 years. She said "It all started over lunch for me. I've been a member for a long time and one day I brought my friend for lunch. We spotted a sign for volunteering and 3 days later we were having our induction!

It's a happy place to be a volunteer. I really enjoy meeting the public, talking to them and hearing their stories. It's also been great to learn about the different species at the centre, and the social side of volunteering has also been brilliant. It's a super place and I'd shout it from the rooftops - volunteering at Martin Mere is amazing!"

Our staff will be available 2-4pm every day from 18th-24th March. If you'd like to book a specific time to talk to one of us, please email info.martinmere@wwt.org.uk. For more information about volunteering, please visit our website: wwt.org.uk/martin-mere

Top choreographers put dance students through their paces!

DANCE students at Edge Hill enjoyed intensive workshops with three leading female choreographers from the world of dance and musical theatre.

Covering a breadth of styles and influences, multi-disciplinary artist Kerry Nicholls, artistic director of Creation Box London, Rachel Kay, and former Ballet dancer, Sally Marie who now runs Sweetshop Revolution, led the sessions with first, second and third-year students.

Over the course of a week Rachel used her teaching method 'Flight Mode' which encourages students to improvise movement through posed questions, conversation and vocalised movements.

A keen advocate of dance therapy after her father suffered a stroke, Rachel said: "The main attributes I hope to contribute or install within the environment I create is respect, honesty and drive. Through these three core values, I can hopefully create a space for each individual student to grow, develop, learn and ultimately gain respect for others and most importantly themselves. In turn, I hope they can carry these lessons into further education and life."

Energetic

Working with the university's Edge FWD and 3rd Edge Dance companies, Rachel helped the students create Soundwave, an energetic piece responding to layers of sound.

She added: "All the students brought their raw and untapped energy into the room. I also experienced a very mature approach to my work. I thought the students were truly inspiring.

"The Edge Hill campus is beautiful, and I'd like to return to continue my research and development in the field I'm currently working in."

Sally Marie, who was commissioned by the university to create two contemplative female-led dances, Cherry Pops and Frozen in 2016, worked with the students on a drama-based work about death.

Featuring students each making solo responses to death as they arrive at heaven's check-in desk, the piece explored the dark elements of death with humour.

Edge Hill dance lecturer, Debbie Norris, said: "We're really privileged to have three of the country's leading female choreographers visit us.

"By bringing Kerry, Rachel and Sally to the university, the students can experience their varied talents and extensive industry knowledge. They do this not only by gaining new ideas and creative direction but by also gaining an understanding of how the industry works and the particular challenges faced by women."

Hospital diversions alert

DIVERSIONS have been put in place to ensure visitors to Southport Hospital are unaffected by the temporary closure of part of Town Lane this month.

A small stretch of Town Lane will be closed to traffic between Scarisbrick New Road and Folkestone Road between 6.30pm and 1am from Monday (March 4) until Friday, March 15 for essential resurfacing works.

Access for emergency services will be maintained throughout and signage will be in place to divert motorists via Town Lane, Southbank Road and Scarisbrick New Road and vice-versa.

Library Explorers scheme launched to coincide with World Book Day

YOUNG visitors to Lancashire libraries can collect stickers of their favourite magical characters by becoming Library Explorers.

The new scheme, being launched tomorrow (Thursday, March 7) to coincide with World Book Day, aims to encourage parents of children up to the age of four to take them to a local library and benefit from the many free services available.

Each young visitor taking part in the scheme will receive a Library Explorers booklet featuring various fictional character stickers including the Lancashire Reading Dragon and the Dream Fairies.

Children will receive a different sticker from the 13 characters available each time they visit. Explorers who collect 10 stickers will also get a certificate to recognise their achievement.

The county council is keen to stress that libraries offer a range of activities for young children, as well as books, including Bounce and Rhyme and storytelling sessions. Free wi-fi is available giving parents access to a wealth of information and the opportunity to play online games and stream music and hundreds of children's e-books and audio books are available to download for free.

Currently more than 14,700 under-five-years-olds are Lancashire library members and have their own library card. Children can get a library card from birth.

To take part in the Library Explorers scheme children need to be members. To join, parents or carers just need to visit a library with their child and fill in a few details.

With their own library card, children can get free access to beginner and early reader books, and books with read-along CDs; fun and educational pre-school books; family movie classics and new releases; storytime, rhymes and music CDs; and children's digital content and online resources.

County Councillor Peter Buckley, Lancashire County Council's cabinet member for community and cultural services, said: "It's important to give children the chance to experience the joy of reading from an early age, and our Library Explorers scheme encourages this. Our fantastic free service can help them discover a lasting love of books that will remain throughout their lives.

"And as well as books, most libraries now offer free storytelling or music sessions, where parents and carers can bring their pre-school children and meet with friends and get involved."

For more information, go to www.lancashire.gov.uk/libraries or call 0300 123 6703.

Youngsters are being invited to become Library Explorers.

Classic Christie play welcomed at theatre in resort

THE classic Agatha Christie whodunit, The Mousetrap could be seen for three days at the Southport Theatre last week writes Henry James.

It opened in London in 1952 and has been running ever since and has now been performed in the West End more than 27,000 times.

As ever with Agatha Christie's stories, there was a great mix of characters, and they included: Mollie Ralston (Harriett Hare) and her husband Giles (Nick Biadon), who own the guest house, Monkswell Manor, where the action was based.

They were joined by other people, such as: Mrs Boyle (Gwyneth Strong), Christopher Wren (Lewis Chandler) and Mr Paravicini (David Alcock). Strong played an objectionable woman who was far removed from her character in Only Fools and Horses – Cassandra.

The tension started to increase as the guests arrived and there was a real sense of impending doom.

When watching a Christie play, you must expect the unexpected and realise that the characters are usually trying to hide something. This was true also in the Mousetrap.

The touring set was impressive and no expense was spared in this production. You really felt like you were in the guest house with the characters.

The police soon arrived and Sgt Trotter (Geoff Arnold) attempted to untangle what had happened.

The action moved along quickly, and there were a few twists along the way, before the climax. 9/10

Historic moment!

I WAS a bit disappointed that yesterday didn't begin with the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight thundering through the skies overhead, writes David Simister.

Church bells across the country would've rung out in unison, followed by politicians of all parties breaking off from the Brexit negotiations to offer congratulatory speeches, and schoolchildren would've been invited to send in their drawings and paintings marking the big moment.

Perhaps I'm over-egging it a bit, but a panel of motoring experts have finally freed themselves from the shackles of sensibleness and voted in a Jaguar as European Car of the Year.

It's an historic moment – although probably not one that requires the entire nation to break out the Union Flag bunting and hold street parties in a patriotic frenzy – because never before has a Jag won.

You might find it hard to believe, but the original XJ6 didn't even come close. Nor did the XK8. In fact, the only Jaguars that got within sniffing distance were the X-type (beaten by the erm, Peugeot 307), and the XE two years ago, which finished third.

So I'm glad that the I-Pace has finally walked off with the silverware, and not just because it gives a manufacturer staring in the face of 4,500 painful job cuts a much-needed shot of adrenaline.

It shows that, for a change, the collective opinion went with the car that genuinely moved the game on the most, as the I-Pace has done with zero-emissions electric cars what the Mk2 did with stuffy small saloons.

It made them genuinely, want-one desirable.

The other big surprise was that – had it not been for a pre-agreed clause in the rules – it would have been joint winner with a sports car, in the form of Alpine's A110.

In other words, a panel of judges that has a habit of picking family hatchbacks as worthy-but-boring winners gave a £46,000, two-seater Cayman rival what would be a contest-winning amount of points.

The last time they did anything that brave was more than 40 years ago, when the Porsche 928 won.

What all that means is that European Car of the Year just got interesting again – finally it feels like there's a realistic chance that a Porsche or Lotus might walk off with the coveted rear window sticker, rather than being relegated to third place by a brace of hybrid hatchbacks. Imagine if the new TVR Griffith won it next year?

It doesn't seem so far-fetched anymore.

In the meantime, it means that the I-Pace is not only a proper Jag that just happens to be zero-emissions too, but it means that a bunch of motoring writers far better than this one agree that it's award-winningly good too. Makes up for the Peugeot 307 winning, and all that…

High five for Burscough after Finlayson hits hat-trick

Burscough 5
Barnoldswick Town 0

A QUICK-fire Conor Finlayson hat-trick helped Burscough put five past Barnoldswick Town for a comfortable victory.

But it was a success that came at a cost, as centre-forward Chad Whyte and midfielder Dimitri Nkusu-Wasaulua both limped off the Victoria Park pitch injured.

In the fifth minute Cummings intercepted a loose pass near the halfway line and ran on and when he entered the penalty area he held off a defender and created an angle before stroking the ball into the net under goalkeeper Livesey.

It took Barnoldswick until the 12th minute to construct a viable attack, but after a foul on Zach Dale, James Crorken's free-kick was safely held by Burscough goalkeeper Ben Fletcher.

The half became pretty closely contested from the quarter-hour and Town right-winger Dale crossed into a forest of legs in the Linnets goal-mouth on 17 minutes but eventually the ball was hacked clear.

Burscough doubled their lead on 24 minutes and Cummings who was having an outstanding game was very much involved.

The number seven drove a cross into the box from the right, Crorken who was being led a merry dance by Cummings put his hands up to protect his face and a penalty was given for handball.

Chad Whyte stepped up and did what he does best slamming the ball into the net to make it 2-0.

Barnoldswick are a good side and they went onto the attack, they got the ball into the Linnets net on 29 minutes but centre-forward and scorer Jack Coop was given offside.

Seconds before half-time the visitors had a chance to close the arrears when Dale cut in from the right and put a powerful shot in from six yards, but Fletcher put up his arms and diverted the point blank effort over the crossbar.

It could have been 2-1 and a close game but less than a minute after the interval it was 3-0. Cummings cut inside again and put in a shot, Livesey saved it but the rebound went to Finlayson who finished clinically.

In the 57th minute Finlayson bagged his second of the afternoon.

It came from a Cummings ball across the pitch was missed by a Barnoldswick defender and the Linnets number ten pounced, Livesey saved his initial effort but Finlayson made no mistake with the rebound.

On the hour Finlayson completed his 14 minute hat-trick and killed all hope from a Barnoldswick perspective, Whyte flicked the ball over the backline and between two defenders Finlayson netted to make it 5-0.

Skem suffer costly defeat against relegation rivals

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Skelmersdale United 0
Glossop North End 3

SKELMERSDALE United are on the brink of falling into the North-West Counties League next season after losing against relegation rivals Glossop North End.

Safety could still be achieved, but it would require a near miracle and realistically Skem require around 18 or 19 points from their last nine league games to be in with a chance.

This is a daunting prospect, particularly as Skem have only amassed nine points from 29 games.

Four changes were made to the Skelmersdale starting 11 for the crucial visit of the former Football League Division One side from Derbyshire. Goalkeeper Ryan Kirkman, left-back James O'Hara, defender Jordan Tyrer and forward Joel Douglas donned blue starting shirts, plus a few positional changes.

Both teams knew that this was a real 'six pointer' and that possibly contributed to the healthy crowd of 159 at Volair Park.

Sadly for Skem the game couldn't have got off much worse after they conceded a goal after only six minutes.

Peter Boyle went down due to a challenge by Matthew Coughlin and a free kick was given around 25 yards from goal slightly to the left of the semi-circle.

Jack Touhy curled a right-foot shot over the Skelmersdale defensive wall and inside goalkeeper Kirkman's right-hand post to make it 1-0.

Buoyed by the goal Glossop continued to press and they went very close again from a right-wing corner, the six foot plus Moussa Samassa rising to fire a header that was going inside the goal, however, Coughlin made amends for giving the earlier free-kick away by making an excellent goal-line clearance.

Skelmersdale responded by getting a free-kick for a foul on Sean Yeldrem, but Paul Cliff's free-kick went over the crossbar.

On the half-hour Glossop doubled their lead. Initially former Skem forward Dominic Marie was put in on goal and Kirkman did well to keep him out with his legs. But the ball ran into space and was pounced on by Boyle, the Glossop number nine slotting the ball low into the net to make it 2-0.

Skem's Joel Douglas goes down under a challenge. Picture by John Driscoll

The game then went end to end for a while and Cliff put a good ball through for Douglas, who delayed his shot and was tackled.

Skelmersdale lacked the confidence to put any sustained pressure on the Glossop goal while the more experienced Glossop side defended well.

Glossop started to assert themselves again and but for a good save by Kirkman they might well have got their third goal. Marie went through and laid the ball off the Mason Duffy, Kirkman saved at his feet and from the rebound Boyle saw his shot blocked by Tom Grimshaw.

Up the other end, after latching onto a wayward pass Skelmersdale substitute Danny McLoughlin had two efforts blocked by Glossop defenders, then Yeldrem couldn't connect with the ball during a scramble in the Glossop area.

In the 72nd minute Glossop sealed Skem's fate. A corner was driven in from the left, Kirkman flapped at the ball and Jack O'Leary headed firmly into the net from the six yard line.

Glossop sat on their valuable lead and saw Skem's attacking attempts off.

Although McLoughlin put a shot just wide from 25 yards it was Glossop's game, they were a bigger stronger, more experienced side than Skem and it made all the difference in the end.

Time running out to pull off unlikely escape from drop zone

BOTH West Lancashire based clubs have away games this weekend.

Skelmersdale United will head up the M65 to play Colne and Burscough will go in the opposite direction down the M6 to play 1874 Northwich at Winsford United's ground.

Those travelling to East Lancashire with Skelmersdale on Saturday will be hoping the weather is good, as Colne's Holt House stadium is rather exposed to the elements with it being on high ground.

It will be Skem's second attempt to complete the fixture as in December the two teams met and the game was abandoned goalless at half-time due to a severe rain storm.

It will be a tough one though for Paul McNally's struggling outfit as Colne currently sit in seventh place in the Evo-Stik Division One West table on 51 points and harbour serious hopes of achieving a finishing spot in the top five and hence participation in the promotion play-offs.

Skelmersdale will have played last night (Tuesday, March 5) at home to Kendal Town, a game they have got to win.

Skem don't have another midweek game scheduled this month and they are away again on Saturday, March 16 when they play a first ever way league game at Widnes, who are managed by popular former Skelmersdale players Kevin Towey and Steve Akrigg.

It will be the fourth time that Burscough have played 1874 Northwich this season and the two teams have yet to generate a winner over 90 minutes.

A 2-2 and 3-3 draw in the FA Cup back in August saw Burscough return home celebrating a victory on penalties, then at Victoria Park back in October they drew 1-1, Chad Whyte scoring for the Linnets. So a close game is expected as the two dual for supremacy.

Centre-forward Whyte will be a doubt for the game as he is suffering with a hip injury and was substituted just after the hour mark in Saturday's 5-0 win at home to Barnoldswick Town, although it is thought that he started the game with the injury and played through the pain barrier for those sixty plus minutes.

A more certain absentee will be Dimitri Nkusu-Wasaulua, who came off the pitch just before half-time on Saturday. He confirmed after the game that he had injured his hamstring and thought it would take a couple of weeks to get that right again.

Burscough don't have a midweek game this week or next week and their next game after the Northwich trip will be at home to West Didsbury & Chorlton on Saturday, March 16.

The relegation strugglers from Manchester are managed by former Burscough and Skelmersdale United manager Dave Powell, so it should be an interesting afternoon, there will be more about that game in next week's Champion.
